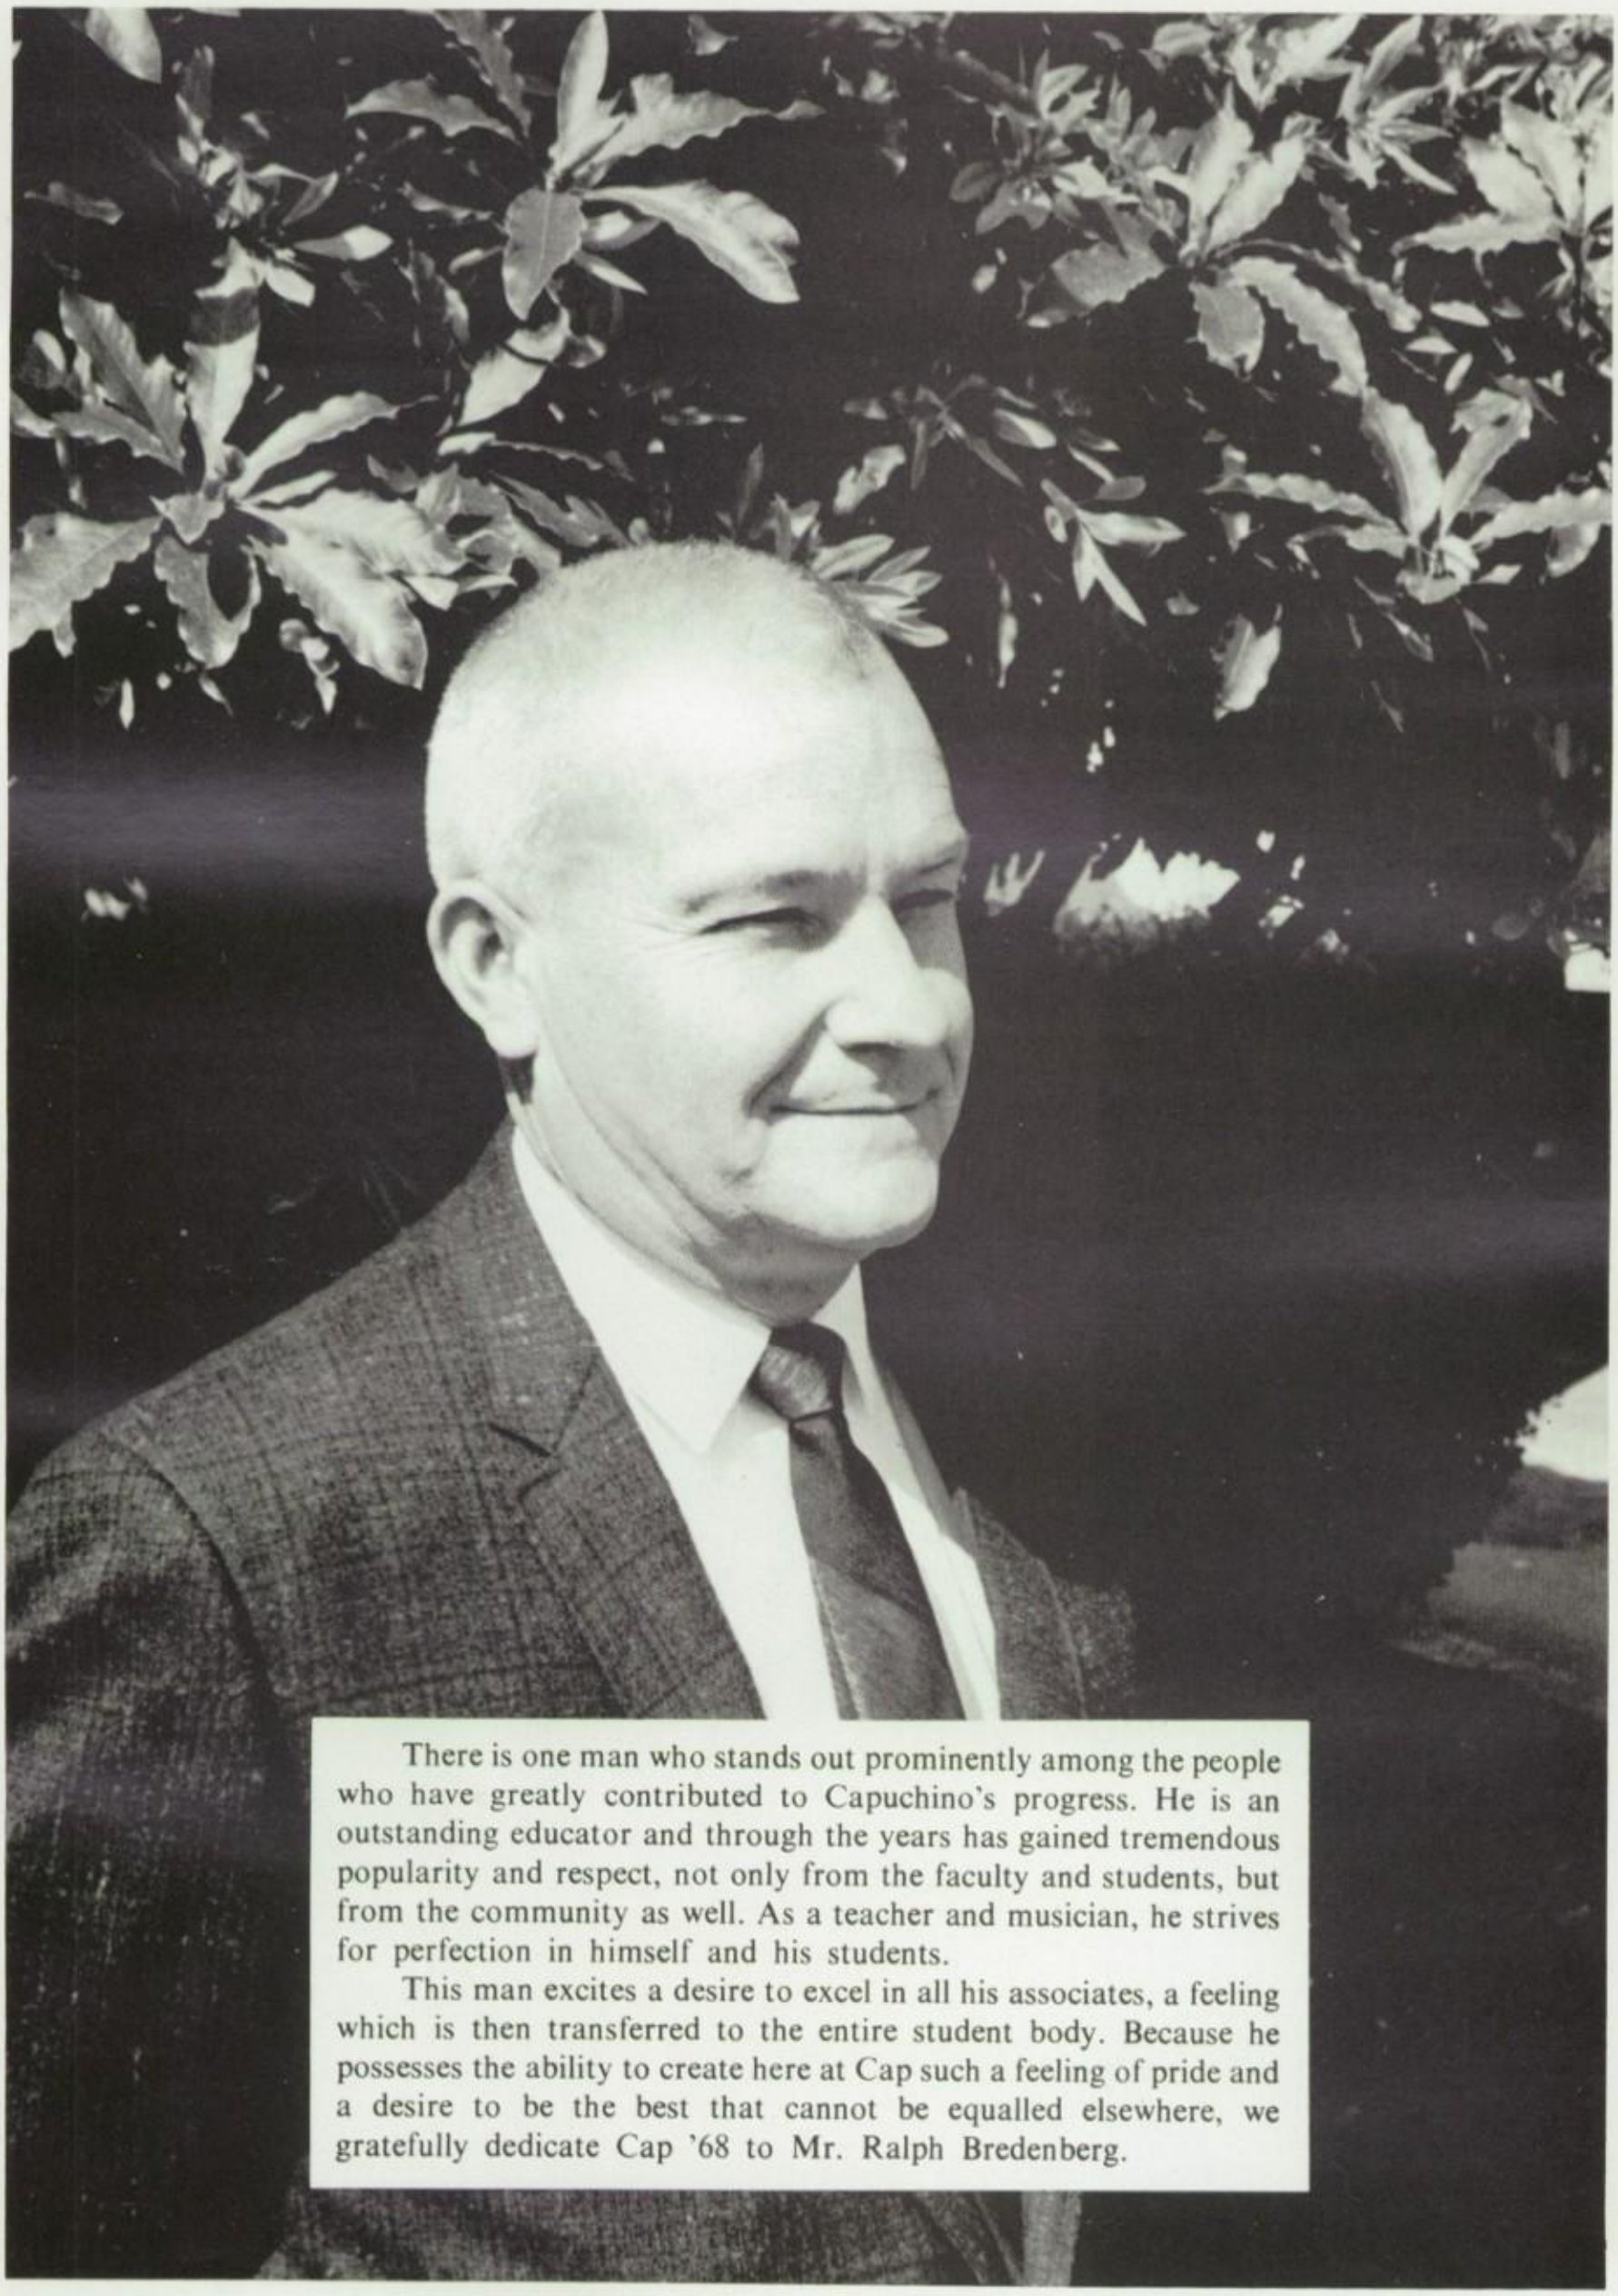
. . . Dedication . . .



There is one man who stands out prominently among the people who have greatly contributed to Capuchino's progress. He is an outstanding educator and through the years has gained tremendous popularity and respect, not only from the faculty and students, but from the community as well. As a teacher and musician, he strives for perfection in himself and his students.

This man excites a desire to excel in all his associates, a feeling which is then transferred to the entire student body. Because he possesses the ability to create here at Cap such a feeling of pride and a desire to be the best that cannot be equalled elsewhere, we gratefully dedicate Cap '68 to Mr. Ralph Bredenberg.

Thank you, Mr. B.

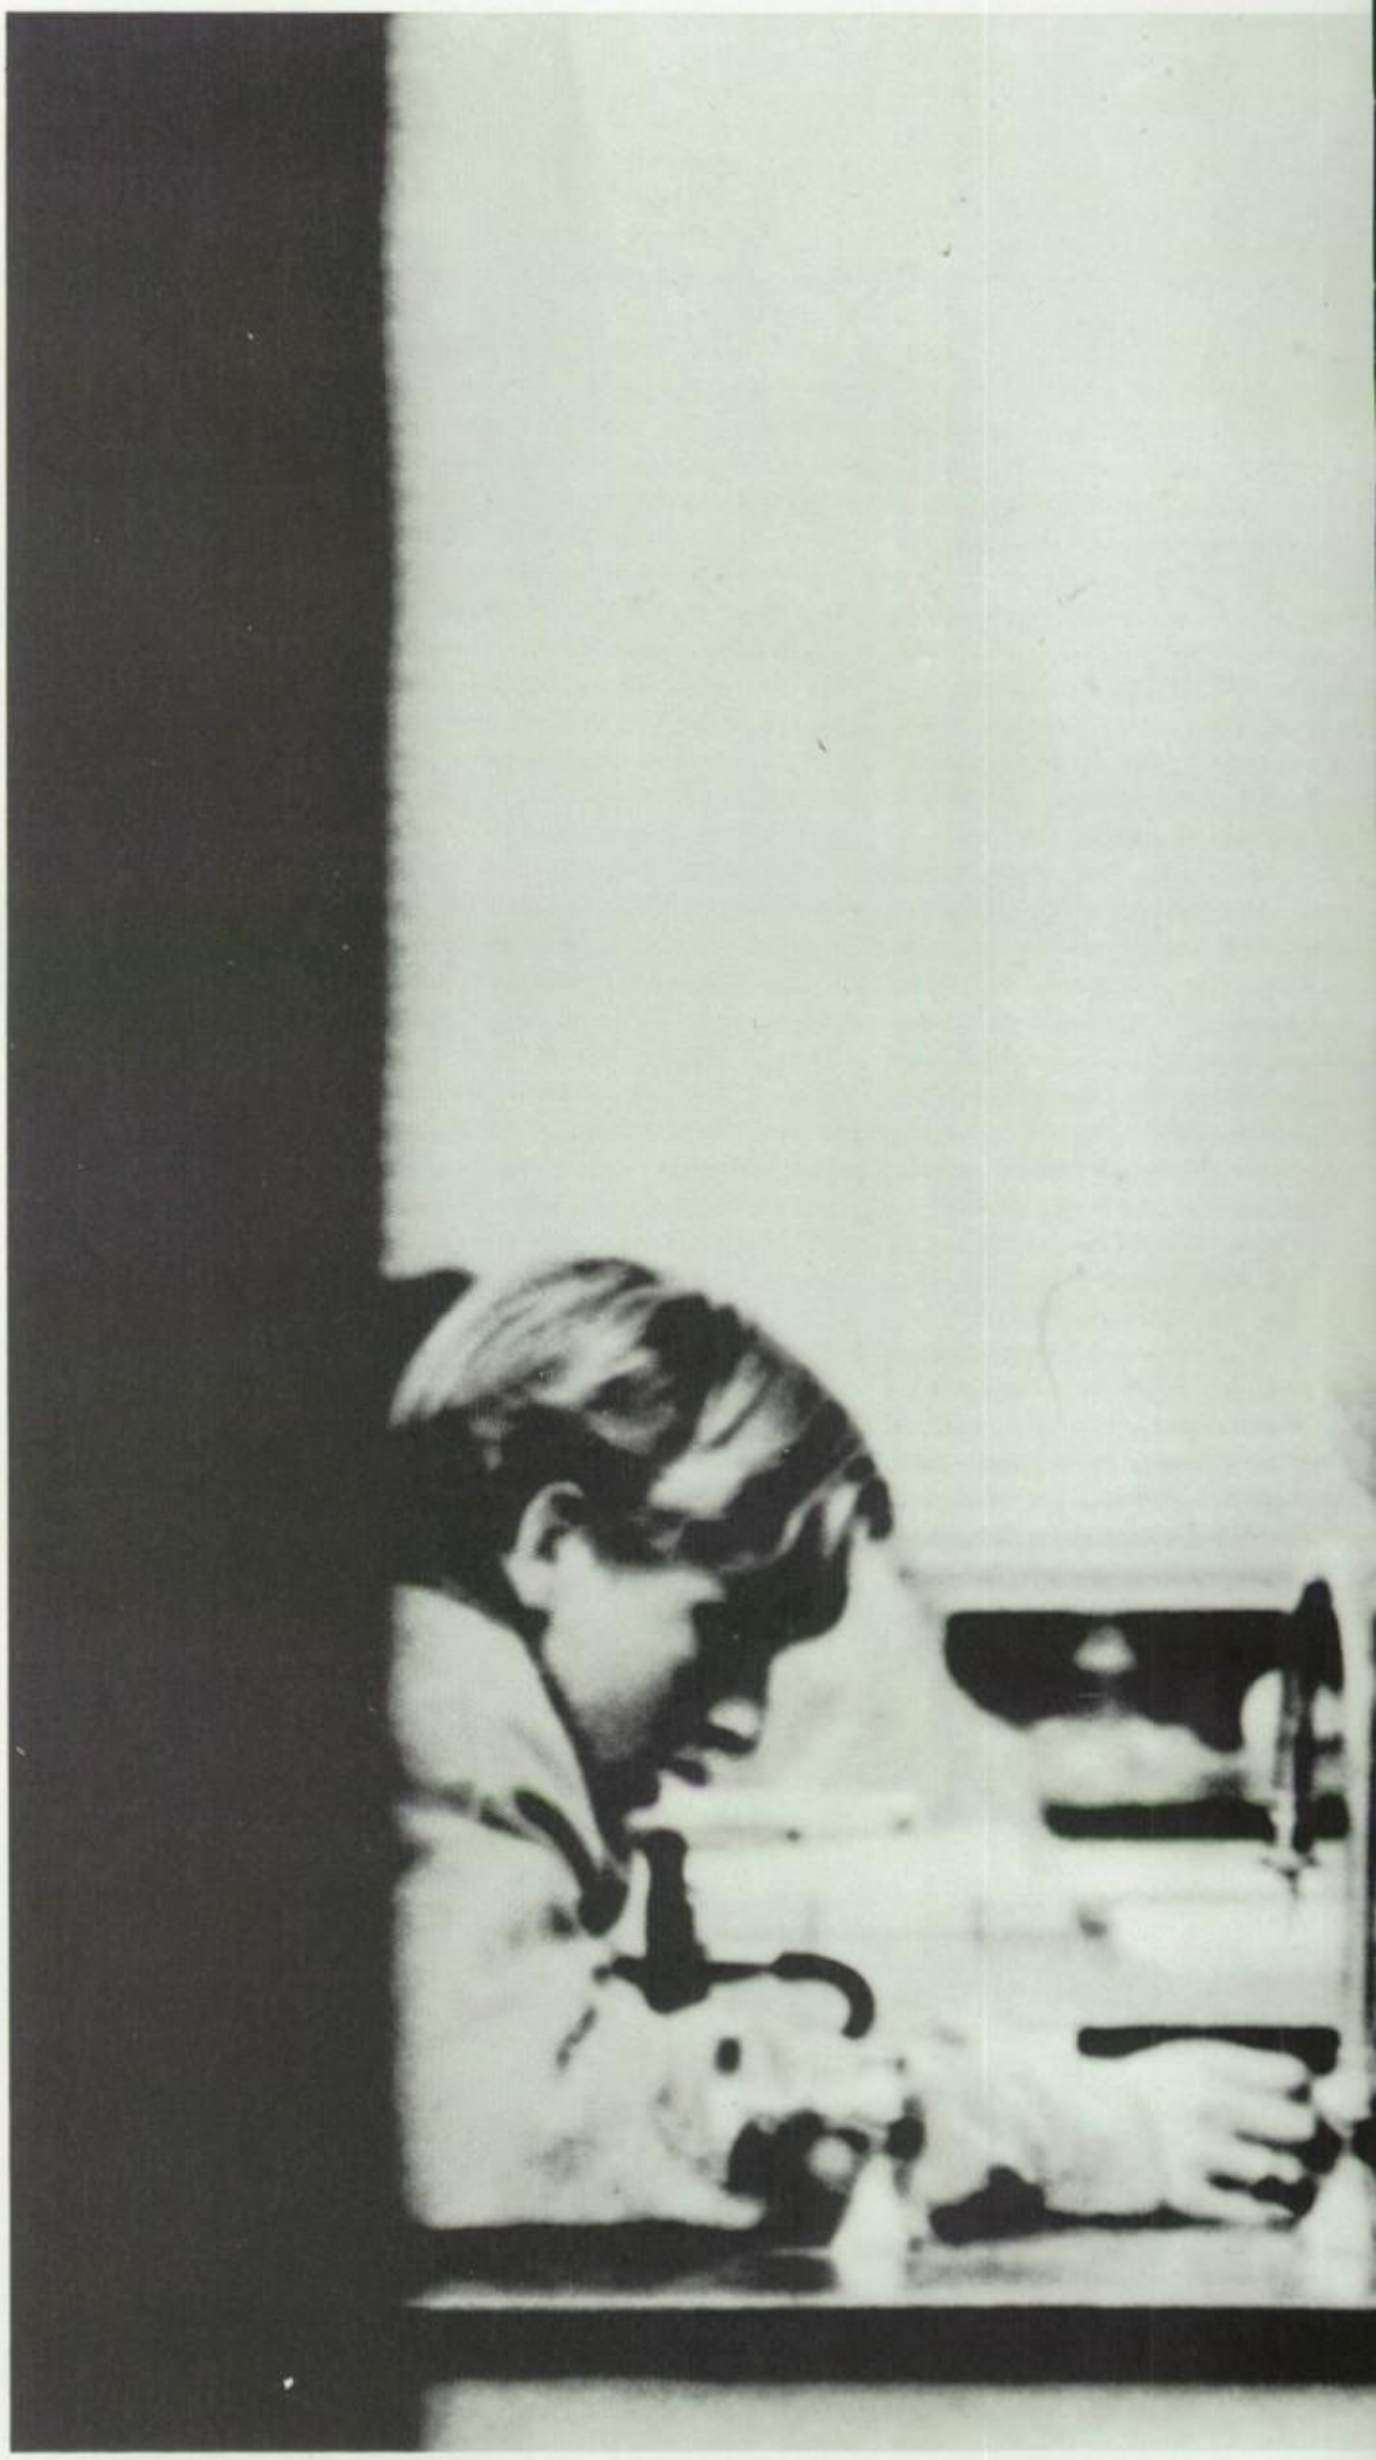
It is seen in the faces of the students . . .

An unusual collage of personalities make the 1967-1968 faculty a truly dynamic group. Through their willingness to help and their interest in the needs of the student, they maintain and deserve the student's respect.

The Capuchino faculty is cognizant of the vital role they play in shaping tomorrow.



Principal's Message

To be of Capuchino is to awaken each day knowing that you share a combination spirit of fierce competition and compassionate mutual respect and support. Cap is a place where generations come together focusing on the task of building youth into knowing, thinking, understanding young adults who will weave the fabric of tomorrow.

The "magic" of Capuchino generates unequivocable loyalty and history proves that very few can easily put aside this loyalty once it is established. For this reason, it has been especially exhilarating for me to return to Cap after an absence of six and a half years. I know now that the substance of Cap's spirit is indeed unchanging and that each new year and every new class merely sustains that substance and polishes its perpetual countenance among men.

I am proud to be part of Capuchino and to have shared this year with you.

Mr. Ernie A. Hickson—Principal

Vice Principals Play Vital Roles

Mr. Andrew Jezycki

Mr. Jezycki, Vice Principal—Dean of Educational Services, has charge of all business transactions connected with the education of students at Capuchino. He also is dean of students for the eleventh and twelfth grades. Previously a teacher and Vice Principal at Cap, Mr. Jezycki has just returned from serving in administrative capacities at the District Office and at Aragon High School.

Our vivacious new Vice Principal—Student Services, Mrs. Mary Lee Santee, has brightened the lives of many students on the Cap campus. Wise and imaginative, Mrs. Santee has done much to create a genuine feeling of cooperation between students and administration. She serves as dean of ninth and tenth grade students.

Mr. Arthur Hopgood, Vice Principal—Pupil Personnel Services, plays a very important role in Cap's administration as head of the counseling and guidance program.

Counselors and Staff Point Directions

The counseling staff feels responsible for steering students onto paths which lead to their success. This function ranges from shifts in class periods to vocational exploration; Cap's counselors prove most helpful in these matters.

Mr. Wm. Kinnealy

Mr. Carl Lueder

In charge of directing the administration and formulating school policy, the San Mateo Union High School District Board of Trustees handles many vital issues for the eight schools in its jurisdiction. Capuchino owes much of its ordered and concrete nature to the base constructed by the Board along with the creative leadership of the Superintendent, Dr. Leon Lessinger, and his staff.

A great loss to the District occurred this fall in the untimely death of Board President Kenneth F. Saysette.

The librarians of Cap offer their valuable services on a personal level to all the students. Consistently available to provide information for and direction to research, the library staff forms a sincere and helpful brigade.

Controlling the complexities of school management, the office staff has a phenomenal task. Supplementing organizational tasks, the nurse, Mrs. Byers, offers sympathy, first-aid, and advice to students in distress.

Mrs. Sullivan gives invaluable service to Cap as the principal's secretary. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Mourton are secretaries to Mr. Jezycki and Mrs. Santee, respectively.

Mrs. Kahler and Mrs. Fristrup take care of secretarial duties for the Guidance Department while Mrs. Raymond is in charge of the Attendance Office and Mrs. Lynes is the registrar.

Cap's Behind-The-Scene Workers

Where would Capuchino be without its great staff of hard-working custodians? They keep our campus clean and are always willing to help prepare for or clean-up after any school activity. These men also keep up maintenance work on the buildings. Indeed, we owe them thanks.

Cap's Cafeteria staff also performs a "necessary" job of providing brunch and a complete buffet or hot lunch every day. Their work is often tedious, but they never complain and are always ready to help a school organization if they can.

Headed by Mr. Bedford, the Audio-Visual Department has proven to be a great assistance in the teaching program of many of Cap's teachers. Mrs. Dowd, AV Clerk, along with her student helpers, efficiently provides use of the latest in visual and audio equipment to the teachers. Mrs. Hunter, Faculty Secretary, performs countless typing and duplicating tasks to aid the instructional program.

The "Almost" Teachers Of Cap

Some teachers had their burdens lightened this year by the help of teachers assistants and student teachers. All together there were ten of these aids. In the English department were Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. Wilson. Social studies had Mrs. Freidman helping, and Mrs. Strandberg was in the Feast program. Mrs. Richmond and Mrs. Higbie were involved with the E.H. Program, while Miss Johnstone and Mrs. Jamison were student teaching. Second semester Mrs. Benson replaced Peter Stiechen in supervising "Hold and Help" room.

l. to r. Mrs. Richmond, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Benson

In February of this year, Mr. Shurk again organized the cadet teachers. (Pictured above and below) About thirty seniors taught at grammar schools and junior highs in the area, while two taught here at Capuchino. The teaching lasted for a period of a week, and gave many a unique and satisfying experience to the seniors.

Mr. Robert McLean

Mrs. Anne Rarden

Mr. Robert Grimes

Capuchino has a right to be proud of its very fine English department teachers, who instruct students in learning about great literature, improving writing techniques, and increasing their vocabulary. In addition to the actual English classes, this department offers electives such as advanced speech, journalism (where the school paper is produced), and publications (with its main objective of producing the school yearbook). Also there are classes in English phasing involved more people this year, from freshmen in the reading laboratory and required speech courses to sophomores and juniors in the writing laboratory. Other additions to the phased curriculum will be made next year as the program is expanded to include electives for students who have passed required phases.

Mr. Don Dake

Mr. Dake is Capuchino's first District Teacher Executive. While he retained his position as director of the reading laboratory, he was freed of classroom responsibility this year so that he could devote more of his time to work on creative projects for the district.

Miss Maria Lucidi

Mr. Norman Friend

Entirely new this year was a stimulating Humanities course taught by Miss Lucidi and Mr. Friend. The class consisted of a study of the humanities combined with an equivalent of a senior English class. Having a two-hour block to work with, the class experienced many exciting times and awakenings through lectures, group discussions, and personal experiences. The class had numerous enlightening speakers throughout the year, ranging from college students to doctors and religious leaders. Another impressive asset to the course was the Humanities Laboratory located in the library. Mr. Friend spent all last year creating this fantastic room of learning, and the students thoroughly enjoy learning from the collection of slide-tapes, microfilm cards, and other fascinating devices.

Group discussion forms a large part of the humanities class activities.

Language Gives A Foreign Flair

Mrs. Carla Van Zuiden

Mr. Stanley Medders

With four-year courses offered in French, Spanish, and German, students have the best opportunity for pursuing study of a foreign language. Oftentimes the language laboratory is used as a chance to practice lessons on tapes and with earphones. Again this year the advanced courses of some languages that have fewer students have been combined and use a seminar-like working schedule.

Cap has another first. Capuchino is known for its outstanding educational system and its willingness to experiment to find ways to better this system. A new program has been developed in Cap's Music Department. Team Teaching has been introduced and is a complete success. Mr. Bredenberg, our band director, and Mr. Spencer, choir director, work together as a team with band, orchestra and choir. Having two teachers in these large classes enables either of them to give full attention to individual sections, while the other teaches the rest of the class. Because the experiment has been so successful, it will not be surprising if other schools follow Cap's lead.

A FEAST class has also been developed, in coordination with Business and English departments, to teach students, both girls and boys, skills in the restaurant business.

Included with classroom and behind-the-wheel driver training, the Safety Education course also gives instruction in first aid. Safety Education is a requirement for graduation and is usually given in the Sophomore year.

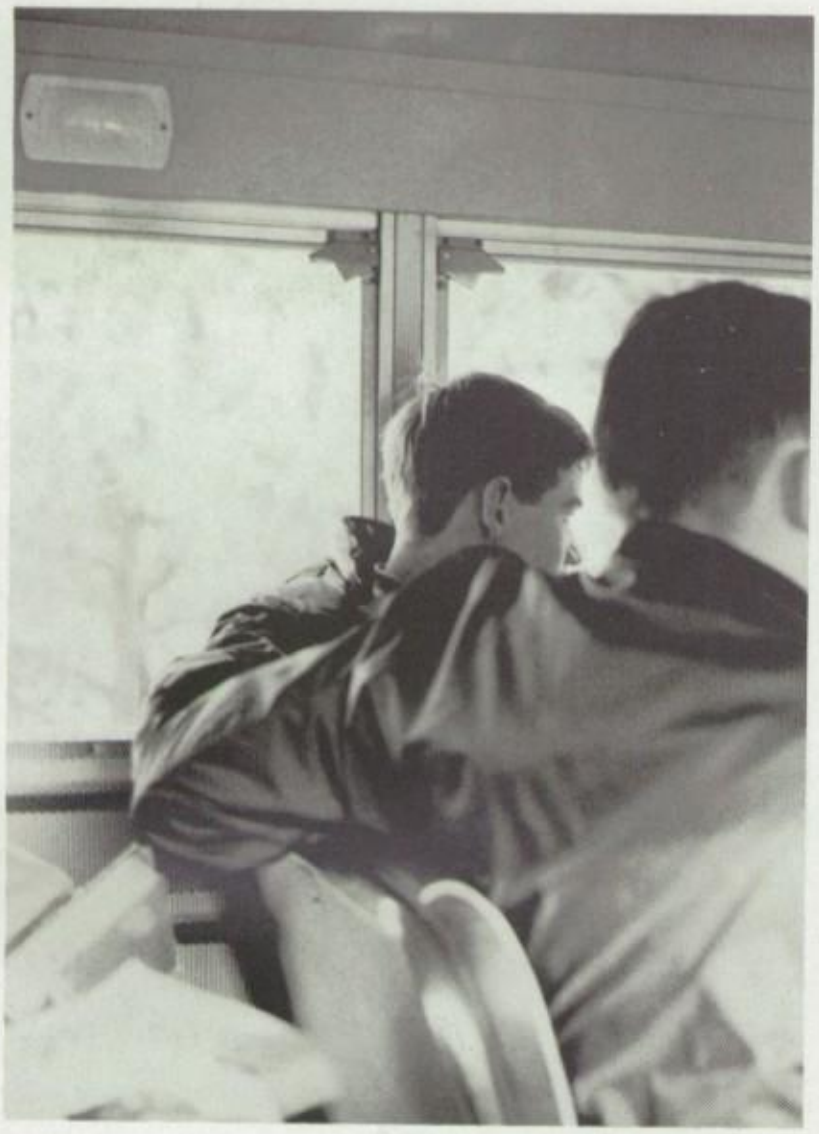
The "Educational" Activities Of A Capite



Every field trip seems to start with a bus.

Field trips play an important part in the teaching process in some classes, but more goes on than academic instruction. The bus trip always proves to be fun, while buying lunch is sometimes the favorite part of the trip. Cadet teaching, though not exactly a field trip provided the same type of learning experience.

Co-operation, effort and creative leadership combined to produce many organizations at Capuchino. Goals were set early in the year-some were achieved; some were not. The importance of these groups, however, is that individuals successfully joined to pursue common goals in an atmosphere of fellowship.

Gathering Of G. A. A.

G.A.A., the girls athletic association, is also known as sixth period P.E. It is composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls interested in athletics. The requirements for entering this program are enthusiasm and a knowledge of the basic athletic skills. The girls have a choice of two or three sports to participate in every nine weeks. The activities offered are tennis, field hockey, synchronized swimming, basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, badminton, softball, and modern dance. During the spring semester, the modern dance class puts on a dance concert. The year is climaxed by a sports banquet at which time girls are honored for their sportsmanship and athletic ability.

G.A.A. strives to create an atmosphere of sportsmanship and friendliness, while developing skills in various sports.

Under the direction of Mr. Harry Spencer and Mr. Ralph Bredenberg, this year's choir has performed magnificently throughout the year. In December a successful Christmas Concert was held, in which both classical and traditional choruses were sung. Two months later the Chamber Choir performed on television, broadcasting from the College of San Mateo. Finally in March, OKLAHOMA was produced with outstanding performances. Mr. Spencer and Mr. Bredenberg should be applauded for their work and dedication in a field in which many schools have no interest. The choir, which is available to all students, has proven to be an important supplement to the curriculum at Cap. Students have the opportunity to become acquainted with classical music and to perform works of art.

The Capuchino Orchestra

Very few people realize the importance our orchestra plays in many Cap productions. Each year the orchestra performs in the Christmas Concert accompanying the Choir and playing very difficult music. Every other year the orchestra diligently does its part in creating a fantastic performance for the musical. The orchestra, directed by Mr. Harry Spencer, is truly a Cap organization with, spirit, drive, and devotion—the qualities for which Cap organizations are known.

Although the 1967-1968 school year is now a memory, three-fourths of the student body still possess a responsibility to Cap. The underclassmen ably undertook the jobs confronting them: to maintain and improve Capuchino's reputation. Next year, however, holds new challenges . . .

CLASS OF 1971

Freshmen Officers, Top: Don Lungi—Pres., Kathy Hampton—Sec., Fred Ruth—V-Pres., Rick Weisser—Treas.; Bottom: Martha Borders, Dave Laclergue, Patty Staggs, Sandra Galo, Spirit Reps.

Eager to get going, the class of 1971 is off to a good start. Decorating the Christmas tree, selling mistletoe and holding the traditional fun night marked just a few signs of their buoyant spirit and willingness to work. Due partly to the addition of one hundred and twenty freshmen from Foster City, the class of '71 promises to be a great one.

Pres. Steve Banchero

Spirit Rep. Margie Terril

Sec. Brenda Hargis

Vice Pres. Dennis Gallagher
Spirit Rep. Gail Rice

With the Class Officers at the controls, the Sophomore Class enjoyed an extremely successful year. Under the guidance of their advisors Miss Pedersen, Mr. Wilkens, and Mr. Rasmussen, the second-year 'Tangs sponsored a successful sock-hop and a fun night. Sophomores on the athletic teams contributed to the success of both the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams. The Class of Nineteen Hundred and Seventy well deserves its position next year as upper classmen.

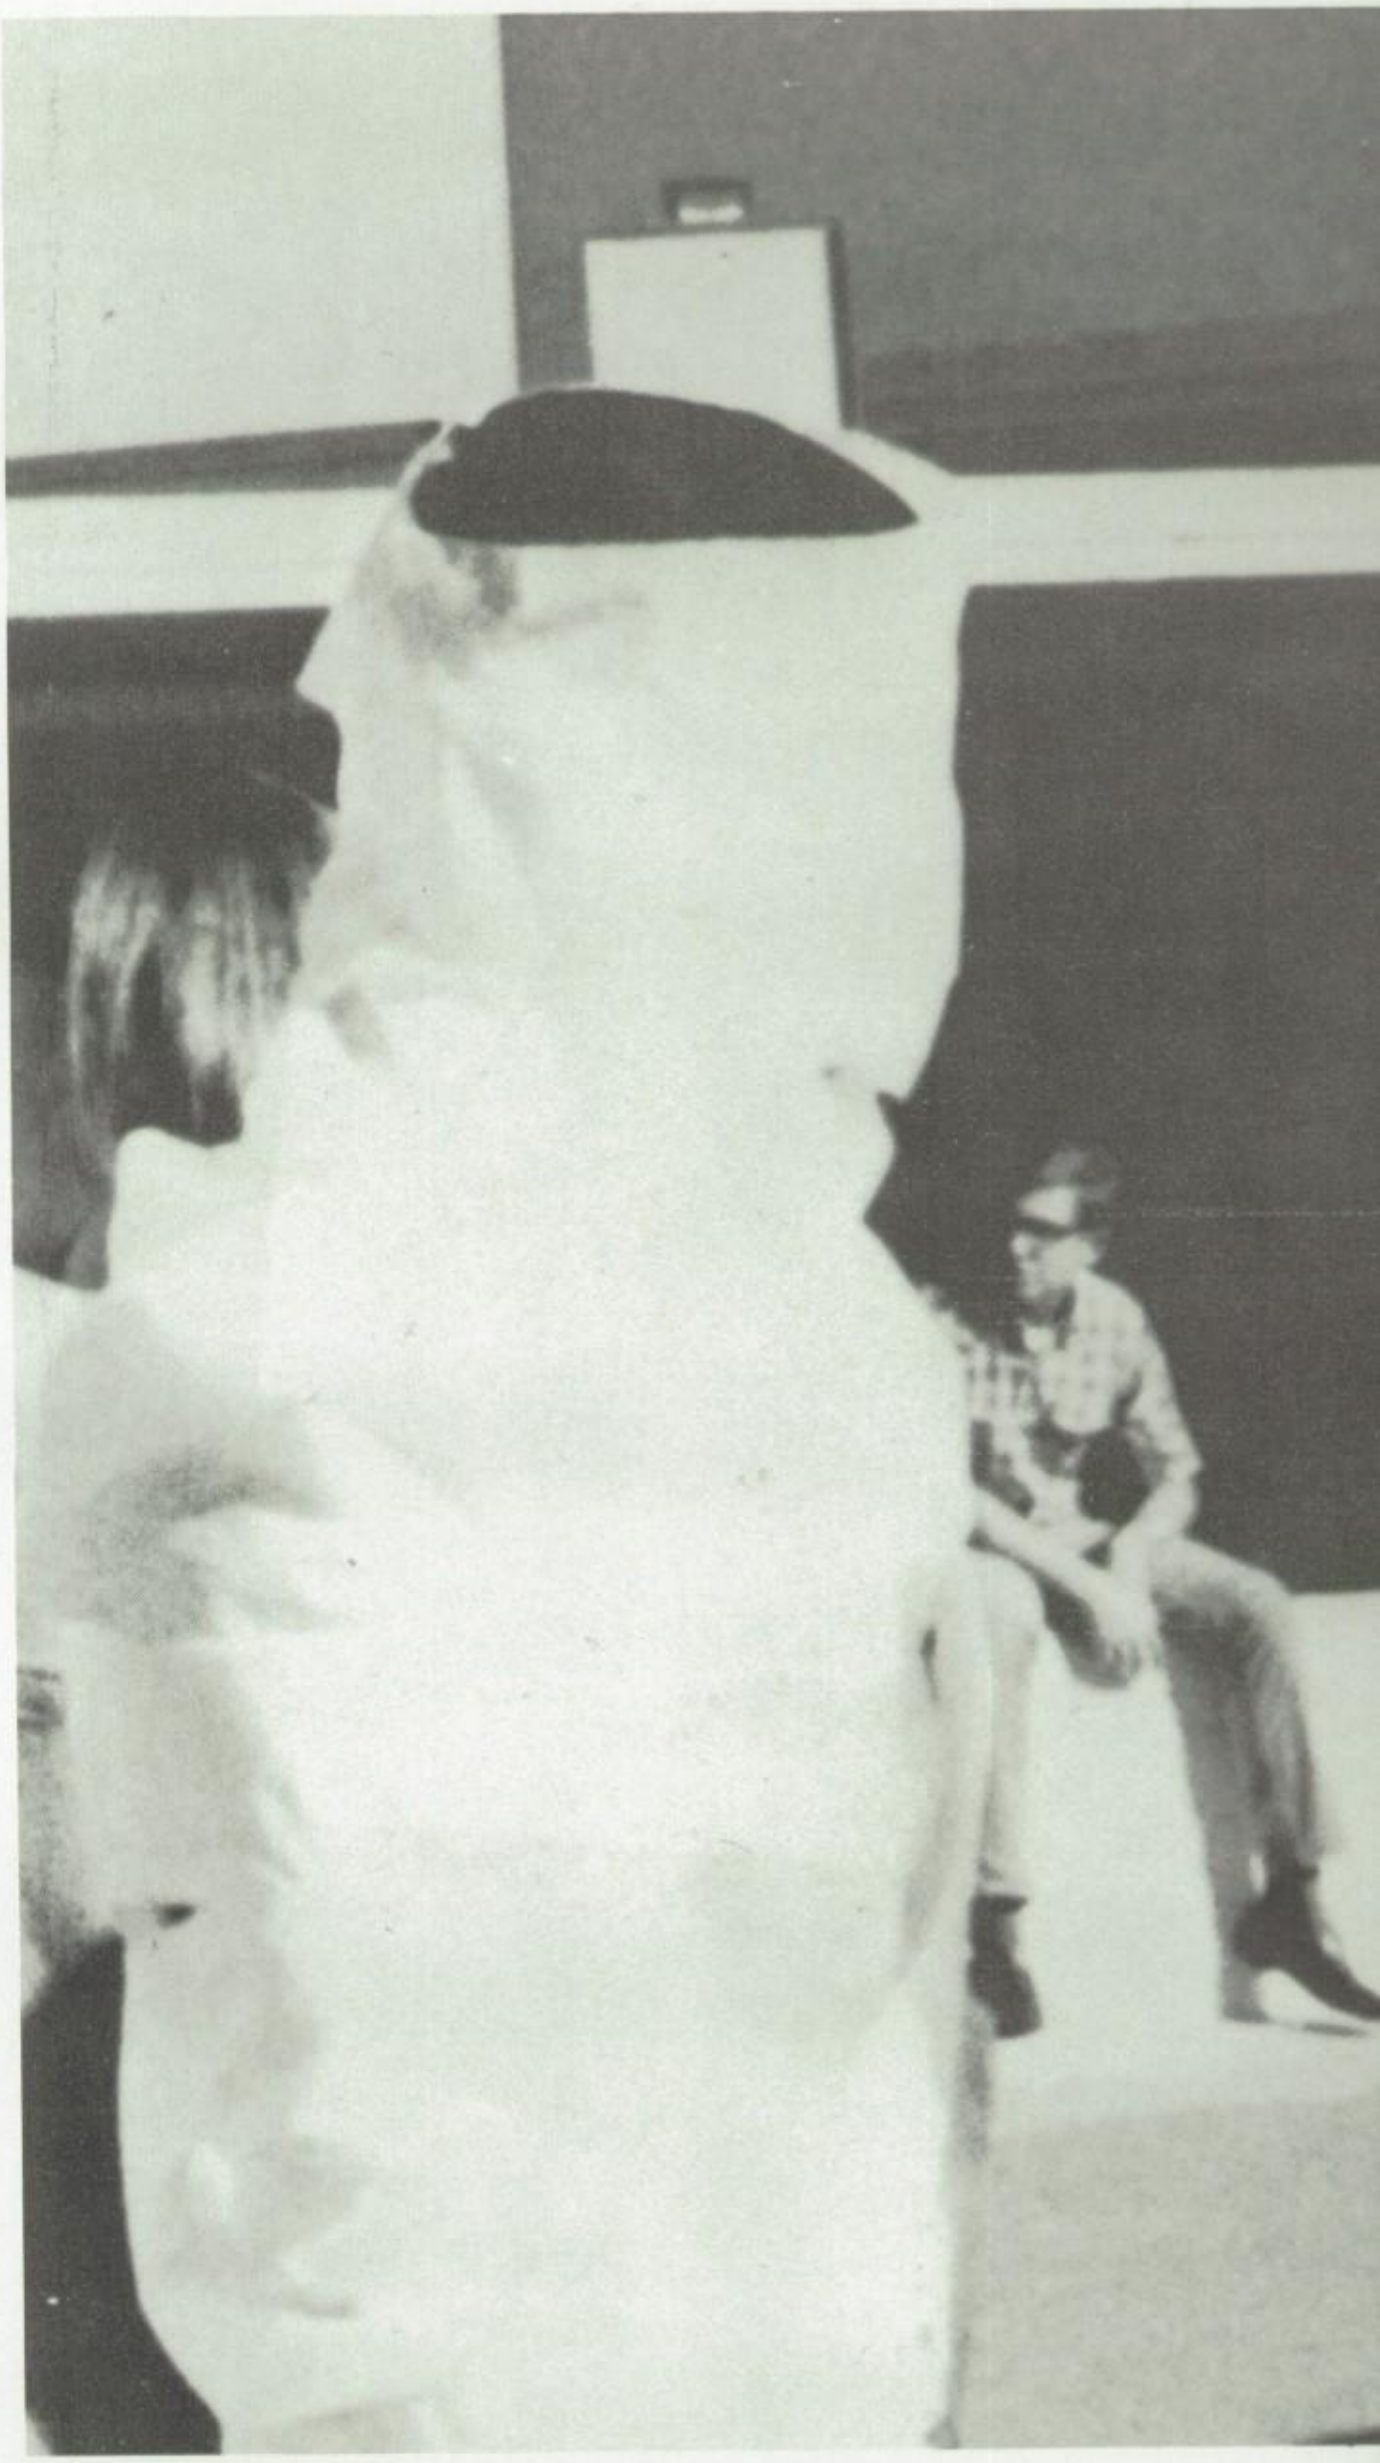
The Unpredictable Underclassmen



A vibrant part of any school is its activities-be it drama, dances, or rallies. By expanding the basic curriculum, these functions add special life to our student body and school. Activities make the ordinary, different; the uneventful, a moment to remember ...

SWEDISH MASSAGE*

(*A STIMULATING SHOW)

The second annual art show honoring Cap's talented students in the fields of art, ceramics, and jewelry was presented January 24th and 25th in the art wing. The show consisted of drawings done by first-and second-year art students, oil renditions done by third-and fourth-year students, and various pieces of work done by three ceramics classes and two jewelry classes.

A new idea was tried this year with the Capuchino Christmas Concert, "Now Is the Tyme for Christmas." Under the direction of Mr. Spencer, assistant, Mr. "B" and Crestmoor's music director, Mr. Messer, the Cap and Crestmoor choirs combined to perform the annual concert.

Upon opening the curtain there was a ringing of carols which later in the program was complimented by Vivaldi's Gloria.

A very entertaining and enjoyable night was spent by all in attendance.

Shimmering in metamorphic magnificence, Capuchino's Boy's Gym served as the setting for this year's Queen's Ball on November nineteenth. While dancing to the music of the Mark Teele Orchestra, the couples eagerly anticipated the approach of nine o'clock and the coronation. Amid the suspense and enchantment was a hint of melancholy surrounding the Seniors. At eleven o'clock their last Queen's Ball had come to a close.

Under the advisorship of Miss Anne Jennings (second semester) and Mrs. Billie Hallberg (first semester), this year's FACET Club has continued its traditional functions of promoting international understanding and goodwill.

One of the FACET Club's activities this year consisted of selling beautiful Christmas cards designed by students from many countries throughout the world.

The name FACET which the club has adopted comes from the initial letters of Foreign-American-Cultural-Exchange-Travel, terms the club considered descriptive of its activities.

Greets Rina—From Thailand and Welcomes Back Jamie.

Cap's exchange student program has again this year brought Capites the rewarding experience of becoming long-term friends with a student from a nation and culture much different from their own. This year's visitor is from Thailand where she attends school and lives with her family.

Rina, whose real name is Chatcharina, seemed to furnish a pleasing contrast to the Capuchino "human forest." She was a petite, dainty, and pleasing sight as she hurried down the halls to her classes with Capuchino seniors. Rina Stondi has been adopted by the family of Cap's student body and has become acquainted with many of its members. In addition to greeting Rina in September, Cap students welcomed back Jamie. Senior Jamie Horsley spent two months this summer with Satya Pal Thapar family in Calcutta, India. Jamie is pictured above wearing two of the costumes native to India.

Hidden

Various activities occurred throughout this school year that went unnoticed by many of Cap's students. One event that few girls missed, though, was the "Male-Sale", held to raise money for the student body fund. An assortment of Cap's top male citizens were auctioned off and made slave-for-a-day to the girl with the highest bid. Some Capities did miss seeing Leo Malone dressed up as Santa on his last day of school, but it was obvious that Mrs. Santee and Mr. Marchi were there to wish him farewell.

And of course, a school year would not be complete without its variety of sockhops. They provided not only week-end entertainment for students, but also a time for friendly socializing.

"The Member of the Wedding", Capuchino's second play this year, was both interesting and meaningful. The play was presented on February 16 and 18 in the Little Theatre. Melissa Borders, senior class member directed the production with the assistance of Mr. Kenneth Ton. Melissa was assigned to direct the play as a project for her drama class. In the production of the play, Melissa's talents was evident and the show was dubbed outstanding.

Holding up the wall, so as not to let it fall ...
Taking over old "Y"s and beginning new ones ...

Decorating the Christmas tree ...

The Band winning Sweepstakes at Merced ...
Car washes for raising money for just about anything ...
Exciting football games and rallies—
oh, yes—and basketball ...
"Music Man" was going strong ...

Tournament of Roses Parade and Disneyland ...
Our sadness when Mr. Claudon left ...
Parents raging about Senior Ball mix-up ...
The rain on the night of our Junior Prom, "Mystic Moonlight" ...

These things
we will remember,

Long, tiring rehearsals for "Oklahoma" and then the performances ...
And finally, our Graduation and Grad Night ...

The unending season of sports, from September to June, gave Capuchino another aspect of excellence. Records were set, games were won, and individuals were honored. Our athletes gave their time, energy and spirit while distinguishing themselves as champions.

Fighting 'Tangs

Line Coach—Mr. Vince Marchi

This year the pre-season press polls had the Mustangs rated to take fourth in the M.P.L. Exerting hustle and determination, the 'Tangs ended the season with a fine 8 wins and 1 loss record, equaling the best season record ever accomplished by a Capuchino football team. Line coach Vince Marchi produced another outstanding Cap line which placed four linemen on the All-M.P.L. Team.

Team effort was the key to success; injuries were the cause for failure. Throughout the season various key injuries took their toll at every position. But the will-ngness to win plus great team effort produced another winning Capuchino team.

For the first time in eight years, Capuchino defeated the highly favored South San Francisco Warriors. This game was one of the most thrilling that Cap fans have ever seen. Starting with this upset victory our South San Francisco, Cap compiled a 3 wins and 0 loss record entering league play. Losing only one game in league play proved to be to much for the 'Tangs to overcome, and they thus finished in second place.

Mike Aguzin, a probable All-League Quarterback, was injured and lost for the season from the offensive backfield. His absence weighed heavily on the team and his post proved to be a difficult position to fill. Hustle and desire were trademarks of his willingness to win.

For this reason the CAP '68 SPORTS STAFF dedicates this page to Mike Aguzin.

Losing five players who stepped up to the Varsity for the entire season, the Sophs stepped down from the cloud they rode on as freshmen. After roaring through their tremendous season last year, the Sophs could only muster a 1-4-1 record. Losing many close ballgames the Sophs, under new coaches, Jerry Arrigoni and Steve Sandlin, were plagued all year long by injuries to starters and key reserves. Though having a rather disappointing season, the Colts show plenty of promise for next year's big step up to the Varsity.

This year again coaches Bill Greenleaf and Ernest Schnurpfeil have guided the Frosh footballers to the top of the M.P.L. standings. Combining a rock-ribbed defense which allowed only four scores all year, and a solid scoring attack, the Frosh ripped through the league coming out on the short end only once. With one of the largest frosh squads in Cap's history the team should prove just as lethal next year and greatly aid the Varsity.

Harriers Run Strongly

Guided by first year coach Tom Olsen, this year's Capuchino cross-country team was led by outstanding runners but lacked the depth needed to win meets. Steve Way, Pete Gould, Mike Booth, Jim Dills, and Joe Hart provided the basis for the Varsity. Along with the Freshman squad and Junior Varsity divisions, the entire team contained only 23 members, small as cross-country standards go. This fact alone would hinder any winning attempt, for depth is necessary to win meets. In '68, four outstanding juniors will return along with upcoming freshman such as Ken Jones (third M.P.L.) These facts and a year's experience for the coach indicate that next year's team should fare better.

Frosh-Soph Are

L to R J. Castellanos, D. Haag, M. Wuerthner, J. Ritchey, D. Dowling, P. Maples, F. Newberry, D. Adornetto, R. Shoff, J. Geyer, B. Guynn.

With five starting Sophomores, this year's Frosh-Soph squad started at the top, remained there for three-fourths of the season, and finally dropped to a second place finish. Dave Adornetto (1st team All M.P.L.) and Jim Castellanos (2nd team All M.P.L.) gave Coach Schnurpfeil's squad the best guard combination in the league. With Paul Maples, (2nd team All M.P.L.) Jim Geyer and Jim Ritchey rounding out the front line, the team possessed both good shooting and tenacious rebounding. Two freshmen, Dennis Haag and Steve Newberry, both saw plenty of action and will no doubt provide the nucleus for next year's ball club. This year's league record: 9 wins - 3 losses.

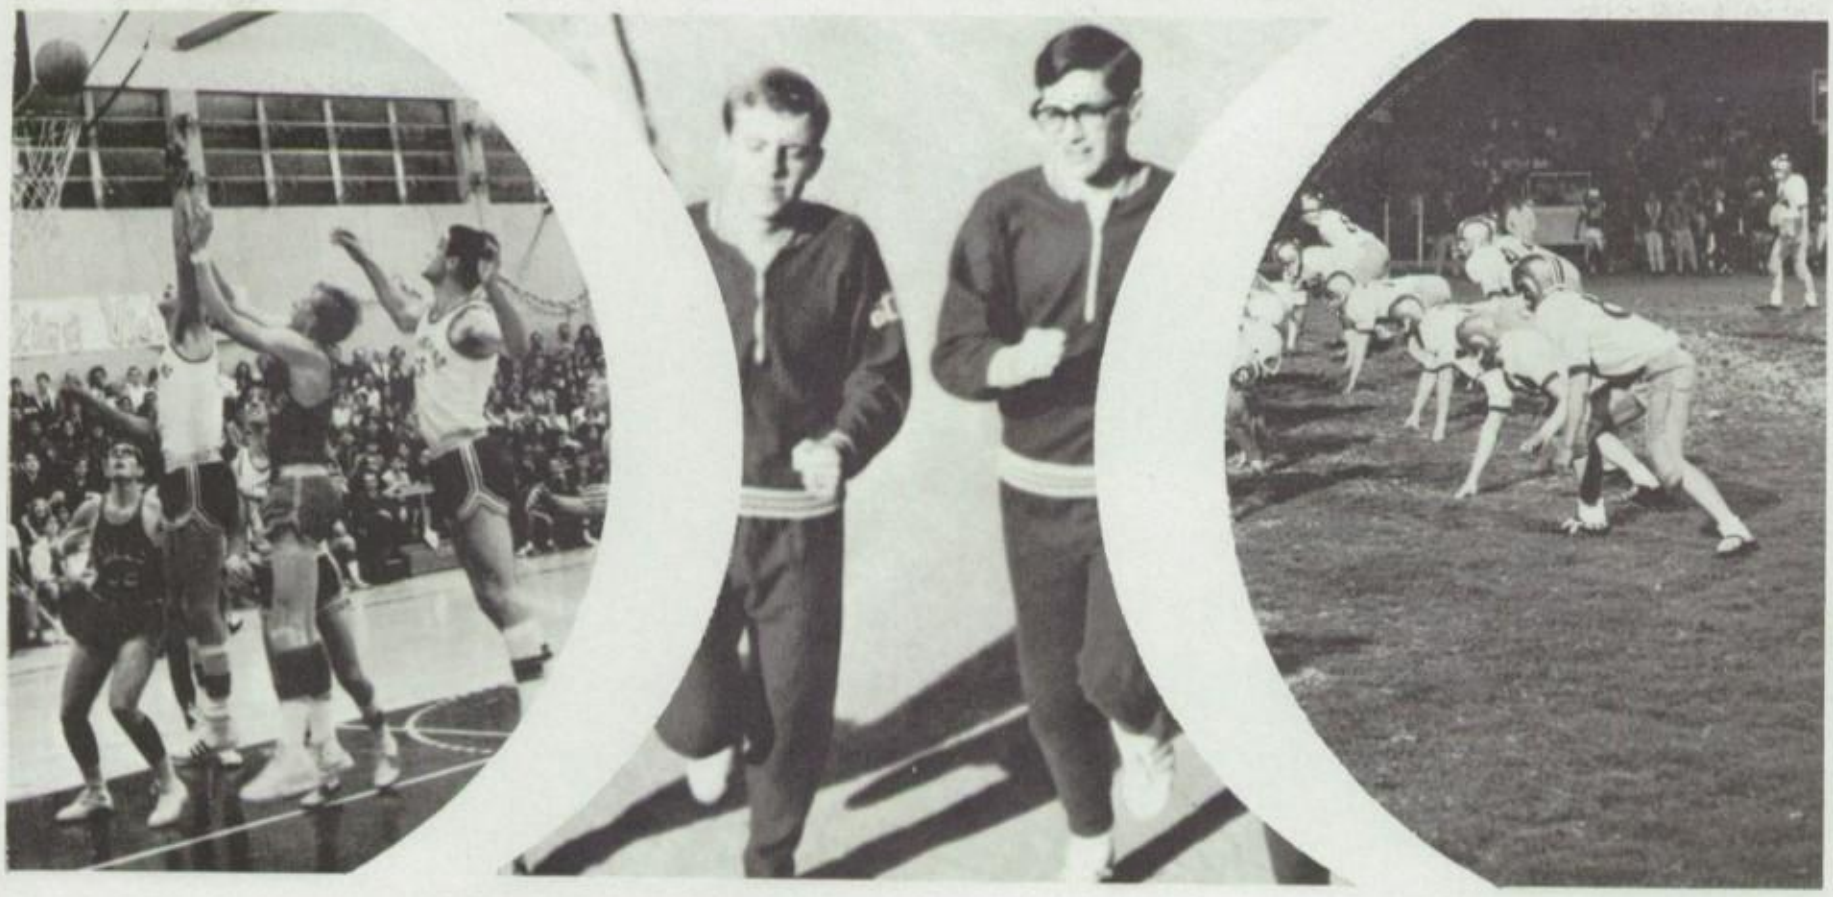
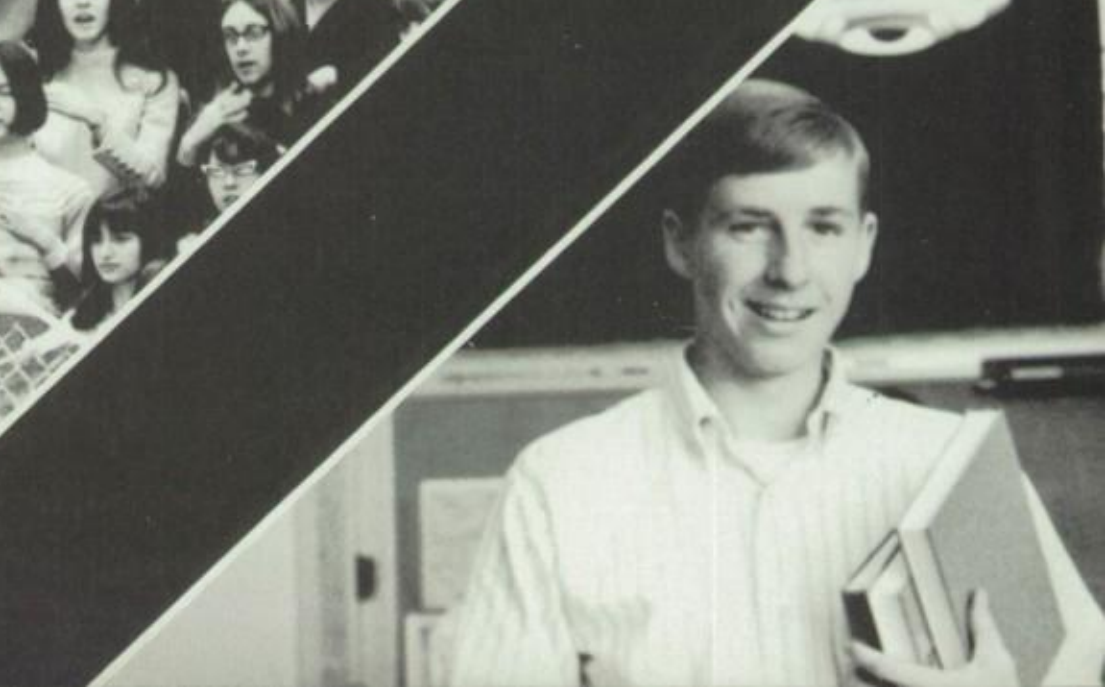
SPORTS WORLD OF '67-68



Fun And



Frolic At Cap

Staff Of Cap '68

. . . Desire

"There's something about Cap."

What provokes our school to continually strive for recognition?

What makes us rise from the indignations of one year and try the next?

Cap not only has the pride to make our school great, but a certain desire-a desire to learn, desire to win, and desire to excel beyond other schools.

Because this verve is perpetually associated with Cap, the yearbook staff has chosen "that something", that desire, for the theme of Cap '68.

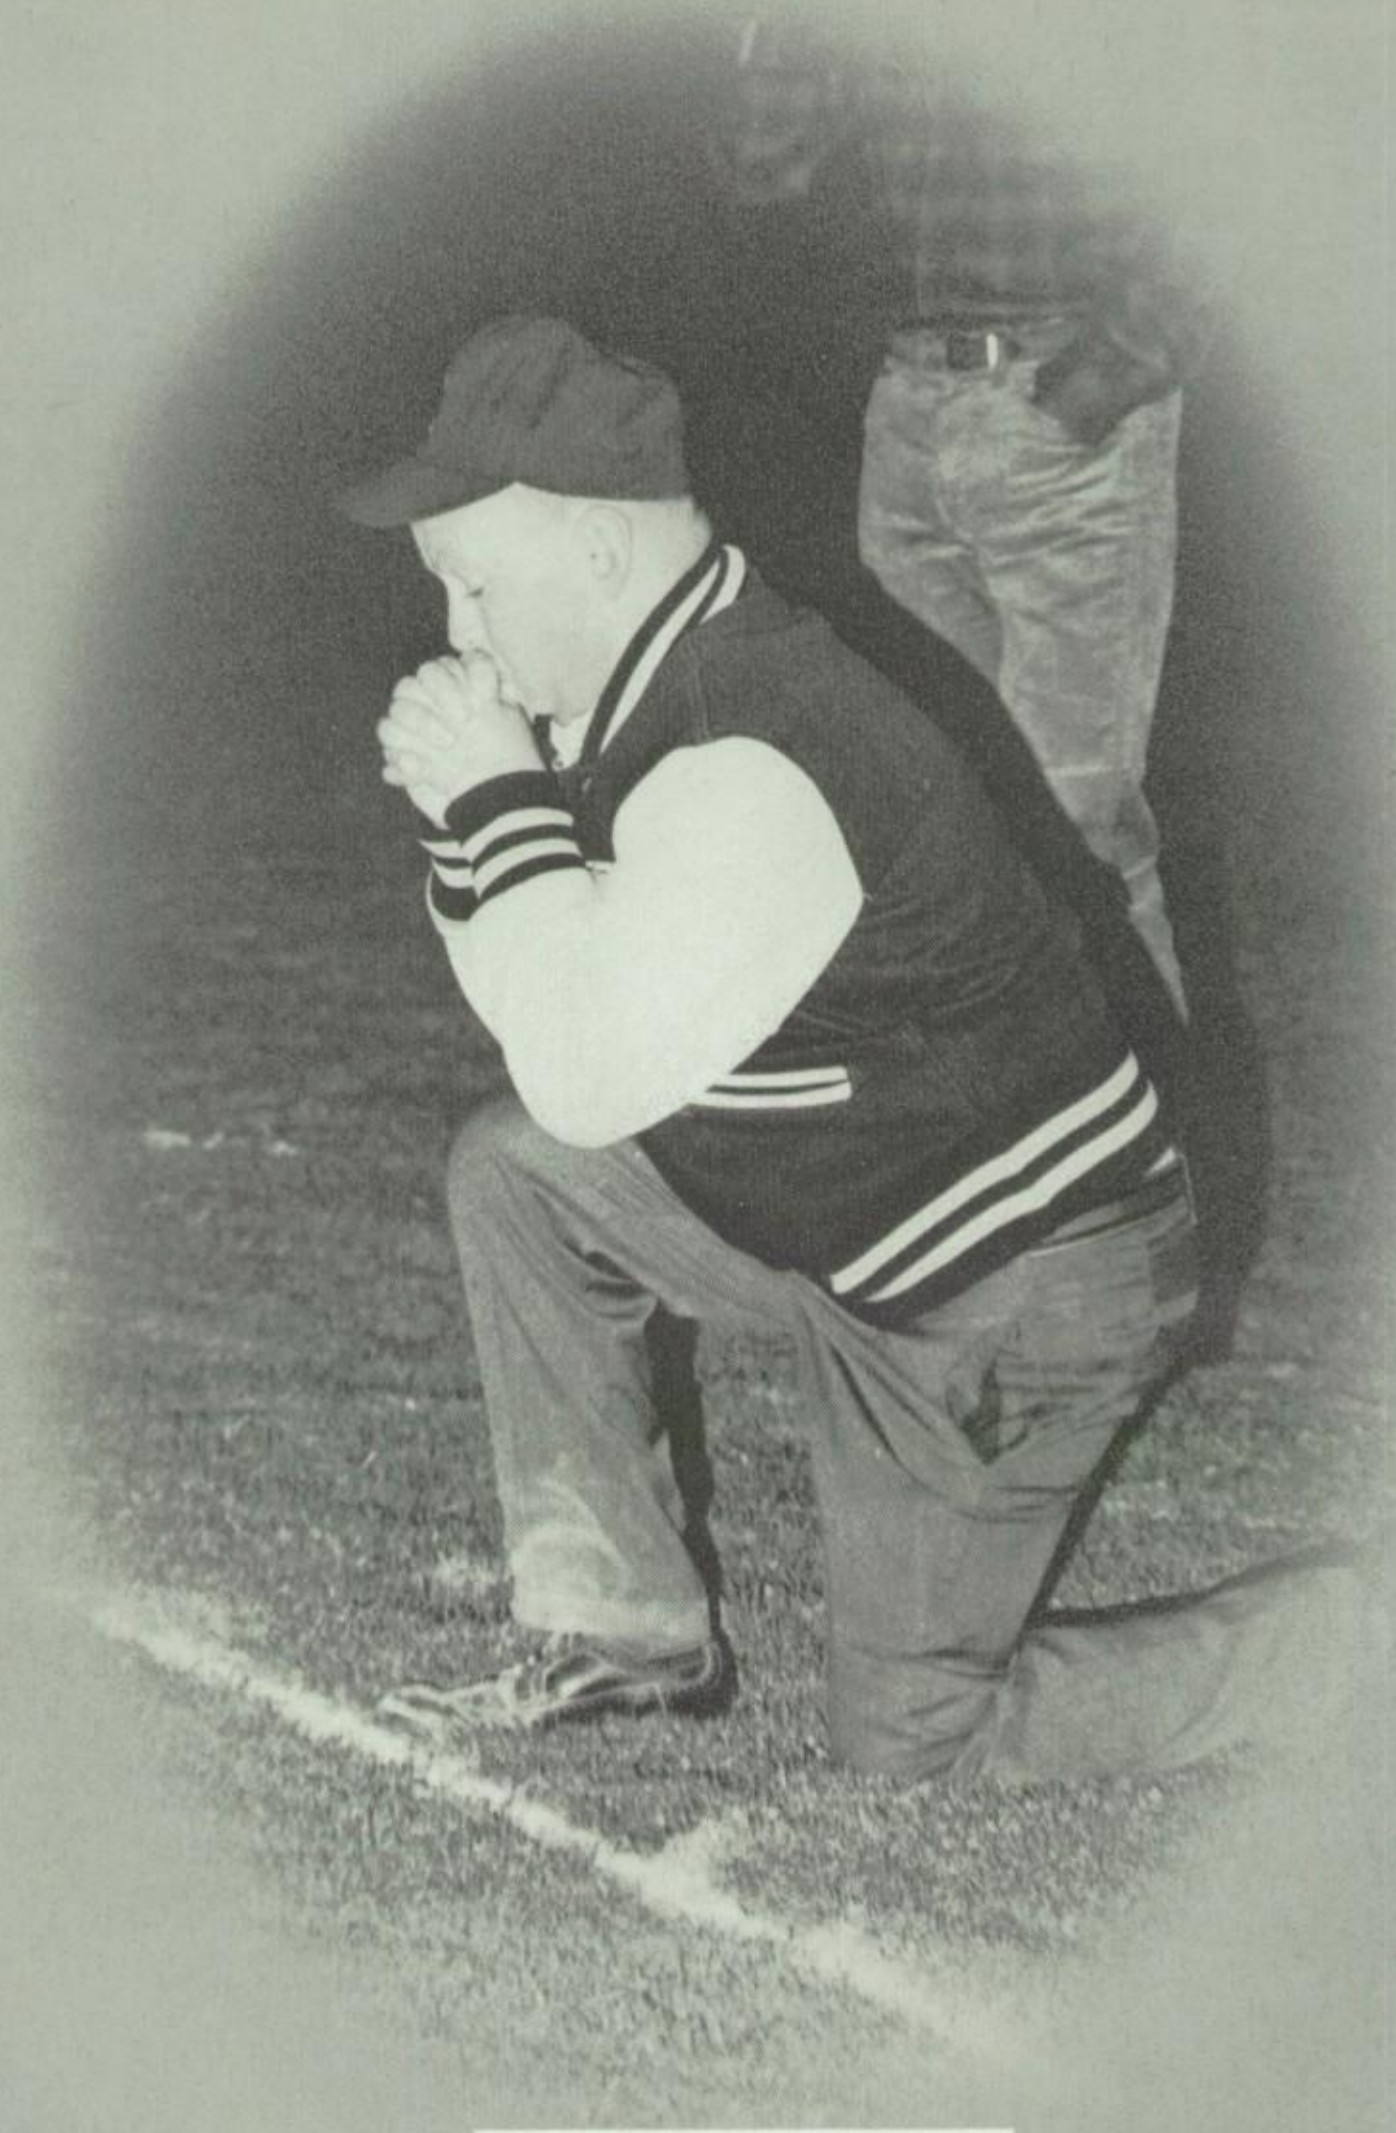
"There's something about Cap."

That something is desire . . .



Give All You Have Been,

Or Could Be.
